Drug Of Abuse Testing

The lead analyst of the report said: "Factors driving the growth of drug of abuse testing market is the stringent government rules and awareness regarding harmful drugs. Increase in chronic diseases caused by drug abuse has also augmented the demand for drug of abuse testing in recent years. However, the lack of availability of devices with high accuracy can be one of the restraining factors for the growth of drug of abuse testing market."

The 165-page report contains 78 tables and 71 figures that add visual analysis in order to explain the developing trends within the global drug of abuse testing market.

The key player provides revenue forecasts for the period 2017-2027 as well as qualitative analyses for the leading segments by type (Employment Testing, Random Testing, Reasonable Testing, Post-Accident Testing), sample type (Saliva, Breath, Urine, Blood, Hair, Sweat) and by application (Schools and Educational Institutes, Hospitals and Healthcare Units, Government and Private Departments and Others).
