

Tropical Treehouse Escape Announces Funding Campaign

Announcement of the launch of The Tropical Treehouse Escape in Laguna de Perlas, Nicaragua.

SAINT PETERSBURG, FLA., USA, February 4, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Tropical Treehouse Escape funding campaign launched on February 4th, 2014 on www.Indiegogo.com.

The campaign runs for 60 days in order to allow anyone to have a chance of being involved in the venture. Development procedures will begin once the funding goal has been fulfilled within the 2nd quarter of 2014. The resort will contain 4 secluded treehouses that span a 10 acre property within the area of Laguna de Perlas, Nicaragua.

Central America travelers are now seeking out the next Costa Rica or Panama vacation destination, and the Tropical Treehouse Escape will undoubtedly be the next place for those adventurers. Many are coming to Nicaragua to get away from heavily tourist concentrated areas. They like the idea that Nicaragua is still relatively unknown and that it has not yet been pegged as a tourist hotspot, a definite negative attribute to those seeking peace and serenity.

Many treehouse resorts exist around the world, and now Laguna de Perlas, Nicaragua will be included for those seeking adventure and solitude from the heavy tourist destinations.

The wonderful aspects of Nicaragua have not yet been revealed to the public on a global scale and in a way, it can be theirs to discover. Although travelers want to go somewhere new, they still want to go somewhere that is safe and traveler friendly. Today, Nicaragua fits both criteria.

destinations." Bryan Donahue

As Nicaragua continues to gain recognition, it won't remain unknown for long. If you have been thinking about heading to Central America, consider Nicaragua, the favored hot spot for travelers in 2013. With all of the wonders of Central America, an exceptionally low cost of living, and just a portion of the crowds, Nicaragua is the perfect spot to relax and enjoy the laid back vacation that we all crave.

"Talk about an opportunity. I can't believe I can get in on this venture without shelling out a lot of money. Just wait until people start to realize all that Nicaragua has to offer." Mandi Zorc
