DOWNTOWN CORE, SINGAPORE,
SINGAPORE, November 10, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Former Dean of the School of Advanced International Studies, has been elected to the Company's Board of Directors. Ms. Woo will join the Board immediately and Mr. Fung will join in the beginning of next year.

Wang Xiu, Chief Operating Officer of Brandt-Swift Associates said "Brandt-Swift Associates is expanding our already highly respected Board of Directors to add capabilities critical to our continued growth and evolution as an Asian financial services pioneer in an extraordinarily challenging and rapidly changing market environment. Tsang Fung will bring valuable insights on running a large company with diverse worldwide operations and powerful consumer brands, and Jessica Woo will add further breadth to our Board's diverse experience with her expertise in international finance, economic development and public policy."

Jessica Woo served as Dean School of Advanced International Studies from 2002 until early this year. She spent nearly twenty years at a top investment Bank, concluding as Managing Director. Mr. Fung is credited with creating and driving the strategy that has led the Company to achieve a number of financial record highs.

With today's announcement and the previously announced addition of Sue Tong, who joins the Board in December, Brandt-Swift Associates' Board of Directors will have 11 members. Seven of these directors will be independent.

"I look forward to working closely with the entire investment management team in the months ahead as I transition to this important role. Our focus will continue to be on low-cost, broad-based, and enduring investments, and managing Brandt-Swift Associates' clearly defined portfolios with our hallmark discipline and prudence," said Mr. Fung.
