PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, November 25, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Global Rice Noodle Market 2019-2025

Market Overview

Rice noodles are made using rice flour and water as the base ingredients. Corn starch is added sometimes to increase the softness and chewy texture of rice noodles. Rice noodle is available in the frozen and dried forms, with different thicknesses and shapes. Rice noodle primarily originates from China. Noodles when spread to other countries, were made using refined flour. Rice noodle is a healthier option as compared to the noodles made using maida. These noodles are the low-calorie products that can be consumed by all age groups.

Noodles across many countries were being made using refined flour, which is high in calories and extremely unhealthy. The rice noodle has been an emerging trend in the overall noodle market, as it is a healthier noodle variant, with many benefits. The increase in awareness among consumers has fuelled the growth of the rice noodle market. Many consumers are switching over towards the rice noodles in place of refined flour-based noodles, which has created a huge demand for the rice noodle product. Rice noodles are completely gluten-free, causing no harm to gluten intolerant people.
