General Stephen N. Whiting, Commander of United States Space Command, will be a featured speaker at the upcoming Spacepower Conference 2025 (SPC25).

COLORADO SPRINGS, CO, UNITED STATES, September 30, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The Space Force Association (SFA) is proud to announce that General Stephen N. Whiting, Commander of United States Space Command, will deliver a keynote address at the upcoming Spacepower Conference 2025 \(SPC25\). The conference will be held Dec. 10-12, 2025, at the Hilton Orlando, bringing together military, industry, academic, and community leaders to advance dialogue on the future of national security and innovation in space.

General Whiting's leadership at USSPACECOM places him at the forefront of joint, allied, and commercial space operations vital to maintaining U.S. and allied advantages in the space domain. His insights will highlight both the challenges and breakthroughs in building a resilient space architecture to secure the nation's interests—now and into the future.

"We are thrilled to welcome General Whiting to Spacepower Conference 2025," said Bill Woolf, President & CEO of SFA. "His participation signals the growing importance of partnership and innovation in protecting our access to space, fostering U.S. leadership, and inspiring the next generation of Guardians."

The Spacepower Conference is SFA's flagship annual event, providing a dynamic forum for thought leaders to collaborate on shaping space policy, technology and readiness. Attendees can look forward to keynote presentations, technical panels, networking events, and exhibits showcasing the latest in spacepower and defense technology.
