Dr. Araujo, affectionately known as Dr. Kika, was born and raised in Minas Gerais, Brazil. She earned her dental degree in 2005 from the Catholic University of Minas Gerais and later pursued specialty training in orthodontics at Saint Louis University in Missouri, where she earned both her Certificate and Master's degree in Orthodontics.

Her career began at her family's orthodontic practice in Brazil, where she gained hands-on experience treating patients of all ages. Since 2018, she has made Texas her home and now joins Alamo City Orthodontics to continue her passion for transforming smiles and building strong patient relationships.

A Patient-First Philosophy

Dr. Kika is widely recognized for her philosophy that orthodontics is about more than just straightening teeth.

“Orthodontists should strive to be the beautiful smiles they help create, because otherwise, it is just straightening teeth,” she says.

Her belief underscores her commitment to making every patient interaction positive, comfortable, and meaningful. Patients can expect high-level clinical care paired with genuine kindness, laughter, and encouragement throughout their orthodontic journey.
