Wendy Schoen, Founder

Schoen Legal Search specializes in partner and associate placements with Am Law 100 firms, elite boutiques, mid-sized law firms, and select in-house legal departments in and around New York City. With a background in law, finance, and business, Schoen is known for her analytical, direct approach and deep understanding of both firm and candidate priorities. “This is where you learn from the best,” she said. “If you train in New York, you can go anywhere and succeed.”

The spotlight explores the realities of elite legal hiring in New York, including the high expectations top firms maintain for credentials and performance. While those standards can be rigid, Schoen emphasizes that strategic career growth is still possible for attorneys who take a long-term approach. “You can get there in steps,” she explains. “Start at a strong mid-sized firm, build experience, move to better platforms, and you can still reach the top.” The feature also highlights how recruiters add value when discretion matters. “Sometimes a firm does not want to look like it is poaching from a peer, so they ask a recruiter to open the door quietly,” Schoen noted.

Schoen's approach blends precision with personal insight. “Every placement is different, every person has a story, and every firm has its own chemistry,” she says. While technology plays a role in modern recruiting, Schoen emphasizes that good judgment and experience are what ultimately deliver results.
