Peak Quality Roofing celebrates earning CertainTeed SELECT ShingleMaster™ certification, recognizing the company's commitment to advanced training, quality craftsmanship, and industry-leading roofing standards.

To achieve ShingleMaster status, a contractor must complete CertainTeed's credential training and demonstrate compliance with the company's installation and business standards. The designation is the foundation of CertainTeed's contractor certification program.

"This certification reflects our team's commitment to doing things the right way," said Jim Rincon, Owner of Peak Quality Roofing. "CertainTeed doesn't hand this out, it means our crews have the specialized training to install these products correctly, and that homeowners can count on us to back that up. We're proud to bring that level of accountability to every job we do."

What the Certification Means for Homeowners

The ShingleMaster designation allows Peak Quality Roofing to offer customers manufacturer-backed warranty coverage on CertainTeed roofing systems that is not available through non-certified contractors. Benefits of working with a certified ShingleMaster include:

Access to CertainTeed-backed warranty coverage on materials and workmanship

Assurance of specialized training in proper installation techniques

Direct access to CertainTeed's line of roofing materials

Verification of the contractor's standing directly through CertainTeed

Homeowners can confirm Peak Quality Roofing's certification status through CertainTeed's contractor locator tool.
