

Kohler Partners with Make It Right for LEED Platinum-Certified Green Building Projects

Kohler Co. has teamed up with Make It Right, a non-profit organization dedicated to constructing green homes and buildings for communities in need.

KOHLER, WI, USA, October 22, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Kohler Co. has teamed up with Make It Right, a non-profit organization dedicated to constructing green homes and buildings for communities in need, to supply KOHLER and STERLING brand plumbing products. Kohler will provide everything from eco-friendly toilets and water-conserving shower heads to high quality cabinets and kitchen sinks.

"Kohler is committed to sustainability and great design in all their products. We're excited that Kohler products will now be used in all Make It Right houses in New Orleans. Their support will help us build more affordable, sustainable homes for communities in need," said Tom Darden, executive director, Make It Right.

Behind all of Make It Right's projects is the concept that everyone has the right to live in high-quality, healthy homes that enhance the natural environment. The organization partners with like-minded businesses and individuals to develop affordable, attractive homes that meet the highest standards of green living. Kohler is Make It Right's exclusive plumbing partner for 2015, and products donated through the sponsorship include KOHLER and STERLING brand toilets, shower enclosures, baths, bathroom and kitchen sinks, and KOHLER showerheads, bathroom faucets and kitchen faucets.

"Make It Right works closely with communities in need to provide them with housing that is affordable and appealing, as well as socially and environmentally responsible," says Rob Zimmerman, sustainability manager for Kohler Co. "It's a great fit for Kohler given our history of combining advanced engineering with high design and our commitment to water conservation."
