

TiE Detroit Fosters Entrepreneurship amongst youth through launch of TiE Young Entrepreneurs (TYE)

Enrollment Call for TYE Class of 2017

FARMINGTON HILLS, MICHIGAN , U.S., October 25, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TiE Detroit, the Detroit Chapter of the global not-for-profit organization TiE – Talent, Ideas, Enterprise invites high school students to enroll in a life changing unique program. This program is open to very motivated students who want to learn about entrepreneurship through an intensive mentoring program, to become leaders and innovators of tomorrow. TiE Young Entrepreneurs is an exciting and challenging program designed to help high-school students develop business acumen and realize the rewards of entrepreneurship.

TYE will accomplish this objective by offering training and mentoring program to selected high school students who learn about the challenges and rewards of becoming an entrepreneur. This 6 month long program encourages the youth to get involved in the value creation process by exposing them to the entrepreneurial mindset. Seasoned entrepreneurs and mentors coach high school children (grades 9-12) on a business-focused curriculum. Meetings will occur every Sunday, 12:00pm – 2 pm. The program culminates to a global Business Plan Competition and nurtures creativity, self-confidence, leadership and overall development of the students.

Seats are limited. Application deadline – October 26, 2016

TiE Detroit's TYE Class of 2017 will be joining high school students from around the world as teams from 19 other chapters from 4 continents around the globe launch the TYE 2012 program in their respective chapters. These locations will include 9 cities from the US and Canada (Atlanta, Austin, Boston, Carolinas, Seattle, San Diego, Vancouver and Washington DC), 6 cities from India (Delhi, Chennai, Jaipur, Hubli, Kolkata and Ahmedabad), Melbourne, Australia, and London, UK.

TYE Detroit is in its sixth year of global existence.

TYE 2017 participating high school students will devote their weekends for nearly four months to learn about entrepreneurship, business models, finance, marketing, law, leadership, and presentation skills. Winning regional teams from all 19 chapters will present their business plans to global judges in person. More than the intense competitive spirit, the interaction with team members from diverse locations is expected to build a community of budding entrepreneurs that stay connected through the prestigious TYE Alumni Network. For more information, email chapter coordinator Ms. Palki Grewal – palki.grewal@gmail.com
