- The competitive landscape in the Mexican reinsurance segment

Scope

This report provides a comprehensive analysis of the reinsurance segment in Mexico:

- It provides historical values for the Mexican reinsurance segment for the report's 2011–2015 review period, and projected figures for the 2015–2020 forecast period
- It offers a detailed analysis of the key categories in the Mexican reinsurance segment, and market forecasts to 2020
- It provides a detailed analysis of the reinsurance ceded from various direct insurance segments in Mexico, and the reinsurance segment's growth prospects
- It analyzes various natural and man-made hazards and their impact on the Mexican insurance industry

Reasons to Buy

- Make strategic business decisions using in-depth historic and forecast market data related to the Mexican reinsurance segment, and each category within it.
- Understand the demand-side dynamics, key market trends and growth opportunities in the Mexican reinsurance segment.
- Identify growth opportunities and market dynamics in key product categories
- Gain insights into the key regulations governing the Mexican insurance industry

Key Highlights

- As the second-largest country in Latin America, and a hub for the insurance industry, Mexico offers significant opportunities for reinsurers.
- Although the premium ceded by the life segment registered negative growth during the review period, the overall premium ceded by the non-life and personal accident and health segments positively impacted the segment's growth.
- Despite the presence of 15 reinsurers in Latin America, they have a very limited scale of operations in the region.
- The strengthening of solvency regulations in Mexico is expected to bring changes to the reinsurance segment's competitive landscape over the forecast period.
- The implementation of a new risk-based solvency regime and reinsurance cover against natural catastrophes is expected to support growth in the Mexican reinsurance segment over the forecast period.
