Description

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Weight Loss and Weight Management market is accounted for $158.2 billion in 2015 and is expected to reach $259.8 billion by 2022 growing at a CAGR of 7.3% from 2015 to 2022. Several factors have driven the market such as obesity rates, increase in disposable income, growing number of bariatric surgeries, strong government support, and technological advancements. Lucrative selling strategies of the companies and emerging Asian markets have provided an array of opportunities for the market growth. However, high costs of low-calorie diet food, natural weight loss techniques and prescription obesity medicines are limiting the market growth.

The cardiovascular equipment segment dominated the largest market value of the fitness equipment market. The gastric bypass surgeries segment is leading largest share of the surgical equipment market. North America is the largest weight management market. Asia Pacific is the fastest growing market due to increased consumption of Slimming teas and herbal products in China, Japan, and South Korea.
