LOS ANGELES, April 3, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Mychal Wilson, Esq., discusses the #Metoo Movement and sexual harassment on his new show "The Whistleblower."

The April 3, 2018 episode features Ms. Lydie Denier, a former model and actress ("Tarzan" series) and current TV Host ("Time to Get Real with Lydie Denier"), and author Ms. DeAnna Lorraine ("Making Love Great Again: The New Road to Reviving Romance and Winning at Relationships").

On his March 27th, 2018 show, Mychal Wilson, Esq. discussed questionable new heart device experimentation on unsuspecting patients with cardiologist Dr. Nalini Rajamannan, who also exposed alleged sexual harassment occurring at the prestigious Northwestern University.

Mychal says, "I would like to thank Ms. Denier, Ms. Lorraine, and Ms. Rajamannan for appearing on my show. Their stories are important to the current cultural movements occurring in today's society."

"In today's evolving cultural climate, I want to give the public an insider's view into the risky, secret and potentially lucrative world known as 'whistleblowing,' a show which explores and examines the courage and integrity within us, and in some cases the potentially highly lucrative rewards received by those Davids fighting those Goliaths. And, to feature and applaud those individuals who help bring about justice for others, which is sometimes at their own expense," says Mychal Wilson, Esq.

Mychal Wilson, Esq. is a successful relator and Qui Tam attorney who has assisted various Federal and State agencies in the recovery of over $580 million in American taxpayer's dollars, who recently launched his new 30 minute news series titled "The Whistleblower with Mychal Wilson, Esq."

"The Whistleblower with Mychal Wilson, Esq." is a weekly nonpartisan political news program which airs every Tuesday live at 10:00 pm Eastern and 7:00 pm Pacific, on RADTV, Roku, Amazon Fire TV, and coming soon on Apple TV, and on demand thereafter.

Currently, the show's streaming content features compelling whistleblower journeys such as successful whistleblower Mr. James Holzrichter, who, after overcoming retaliation and homelessness, received $22.4 million in a $135 million settlement against one of America's largest defense contractors Northrop Grumman, opioid (Fentanyl) and INSYS whistleblower Ms. Patricia Nixon, and Harvey Weinstein sexual harassment whistleblower Ms. Katherine Kendall.

While not offering legal advice, "The Whistleblower with Mychal Wilson, Esq." does provide examples of legal recourse for potential whistleblowers, and for those who are being harassed, wrongfully terminated and/or retaliated against by her or his employer. "Been there, done that, as a former big pharma sales rep, so now I want to help those who may be facing similar hostile work environments," declares Mychal Wilson, Esq.

"I would like to thank American national television host, radio host, columnist and political commentator Rick Amato, producer Sutton Porter, and RADTV for the opportunity to create and distribute this show," says Mychal Wilson.
