Getting the chance to share our music with these amazing people and celebrate with them and their families is a huge honor.”

David Lee Murphy is a million-selling country music singer and songwriter who is best known for his country No. 1 hit "Dust on the Bottle" and "Everything's Gonna Be Alright" as well as the hit songs "Party Crowd", "Out with a Bang", "Every Time I Get Around You", "The Road You Leave Behind", and "Loco". He has released five solo studio albums: "Out with a Bang" (1994), "Getting Out the Good Stuff" (1996), "We Can't All Be Angels" (1997), "Tryin' to Get There", (2004) and "No Zip Code" (2018). His songs "Just Once" and "We Can't All Be Angels" appeared on the soundtracks of the films "8 seconds"

(1994) and "Black Dog" (1998), respectively.

Murphy took a hiatus from recording in 2004, and has co-written several singles for other artists, including the hits "Living in Fast Forward" for Kenny Chesney, "Anywhere With You" for Jake Owen, "Big Green Tractor" for Jason Aldean and "Are You Gonna Kiss Me or Not" for Thomson Square. On April 6th, 2018, Murphy and Kenny Chesney released a studio album together, "No Zip Code", which features their hit song "Everything's Gonna Be Alright".

Megs McLean and David Lee Murphy join a long list of top performers and who's who in Hollywood celebrities who have entertained our troops. This tradition dates back to the early days when superstars such as Marlene Dietrich, Fred Astaire, Jack Benny, John Wayne, Roy Rogers and Elizabeth Taylor, to name just a few provided relief from the stressful job. But no celebrity became more associated with the military charity than the late comedian Bob Hope, whose annual Christmas special with frontline troops from Berlin to Saigon was a staple of American television for three decades.

Megs McLean Exclaimed "I'm so excited to be playing for our troops and their families at JBLM on the fourth of July. I'm very patriotic and appreciate all the men and women who serve our great county. Getting the chance to share our music with these amazing people and celebrate with them and their families is a huge honor. Plus, the opportunity to open for David Lee Murphy takes this holiday to another level."
