

NVBDC BRINGS VETS CLOSER TO CORPORATIONS

DETROIT, MI, UNITED STATES, August 15, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The National Veteran Business Development Council (NVBDC) is proud to announce the successful 3rd Annual Doing Business with the Federal Reserve and Private Industry Conference held on July 19th. Working in partnership with the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, and sponsor JP Morgan Chase & Co, over 200 registrants had the opportunity to meet with corporations and government agencies. Featuring over a dozen speakers, topics included the value of certification, and strategies to successfully grow your business. Panel discussions featured industry leaders who directly work and manage Supplier Diversity Programs. NVBDC also introduced for the first time, an opportunity for Service Disabled and Veteran Owned Businesses (SD/VOBs) to partake in side-by-side educational and one-on-one matchmaking sessions.

Veteran and entrepreneur Stedman Graham kicked off the conference and gave an inspiring keynote address about Identity Leadership and his Nine-Step Success Process. Attendees were enthusiastic about the event saying, "It was a great event with lots of amazing energy and awesome connections made" and "the energy in the rooms was strong and attendees were engaged in robust networking."

NVBDC is looking forward to our upcoming and not to be missed event, the National Veteran Business Matchmaker held in Detroit on September 10th and 11th. At last year's event, NVBDC tripled their attendance records and are on track for another success. With buyers from major corporations and government agencies, as well as the popular social event, Vets Night Out, it promises to be an in-demand event for SD/VOBs.
