

Cascade Ranks in Top 200 Environmental Firms

Company recognized for revenue and growth for fifth consecutive year

BOTHELL, WASHINGTON, UNITED STATES, September 5, 2018

Environmental ("Cascade") is proud to share the prestigious recognition of Top 200 Environmental Firms by Engineering News-Record (ENR) for the fifth year running. Cascade is ranked #64 this year, jumping up eight spots from the 2017 list.

While the overall sentiment is optimistic, changes in the Top 200 list reflected the tough market conditions over the last year. Cascade points to its comprehensive suite of environmental and geotechnical services and integrated technologies as the key to the company's continued growth.

"Technology will continue to be a leading driver in the environmental services market," explains John Cowdery, Cascade Environmental CEO. "We are well-positioned to support our consulting and engineering clients with an innovative technology-based approach to site characterization and environmental remediation."
