LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK, June 18, 2019

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The global market for accounting services is expected to reach a value of around $870 billion by 2022, significantly growing at an annual rate of around 9% during the forecast period.

The growth in the accounting services market is due to increased mergers and acquisitions (M&A), technology stocks performance and financial reporting standards transition.

However, the market for accounting services is expected to face certain restraints from several factors such as weak wage growth in developed economies, accounting scandals, inconsistency in service delivery, automation affecting small and medium accounting firm, and reduction in free trade.

The accounting services market consists of the sales of accounting services and related goods by entities (organizations, sole traders and partnerships) that provide recording and analysis of financial transactions and other financial values pertaining to businesses and other organizations. The service involves summarizing, analyzing, auditing and reporting of the financial transactions to tax collection agencies and entities. It also involves auditing and preparing financial statements, designing accounting systems, developing budgets and accounting advisory.

Accounting services undertake processes where human capital is the major input. They make available the knowledge and skills of their employees, often on an assignment basis, where an individual or team is responsible for the delivery of services to the client.
