With a 20-year guarantee, the new all-steel awnings come in a variety of roof and trim colors and are engineered for up to 115 miles per hour and 50 pounds per square foot. The awnings, which can be combined for extra length, are designed for easy assembly, disassembly and transportation.

“As more and more individuals and companies return to work, travel and business as usual, we wanted to expand our weatherproof awning options,” said Marc Niemann,

General Manager of Shield Roof Solutions. “Our secure construction and American steel mean that you never have to worry about durability or the elements, no matter what is going on in the world around you.”

Awnings can be combined with Podroof kits, carports and more. The awnings include outer support posts and connections. Smaller awning options are available for windows and doors. Financing is now available for Shield Roof Solutions' products.

“Everything we create at Shield Roofing Solutions is made with durability and usefulness in mind, to make your life or your work that much easier,” Niemann added. “Whether you are looking for a temporary or a permanent awning, we can help you create a unique and affordable structure that protects, shelters and stands the test of time.”
