

Honeywell Aerospace joins the Sponsor Line-up for the 22nd Annual Military Airlift and Air-to-Air Refuelling Conference

SMi Group reports: Honeywell Aerospace is the latest sponsor to join the Military Airlift and Air-to-Air Refuelling conference in London this November.

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, September 23, 2021

/EINPresswire.com/ -- It was recently announced that Honeywell has ramped up its commitment to the rapidly growing small satellite market segment by adding three new products to its line-up of space offerings. The newest additions include Honeywell's X Band Downlink Transmitter and Optical Communication Terminal (OCT), which enable high-bandwidth data to be transmitted both down to Earth and between satellites. Additionally, Honeywell is debuting a new line of Commercial Series reaction wheel assemblies specifically designed for commercial space satellites. *
