and Trial Lawyer*

Stephanie is also representing the family of a 10 year-old boy shot and wounded during the May 24, 2022 school shooting massacre at Robb Elementary School in Uvalde, Texas. We mourn the tragic loss of life in Uvalde, and we are determined to seek accountability and demand long overdue change to prevent these incidents from happening. Our legal team is prepared to fight for Robb Elementary School families who have been forced to cope with pain and suffering that is beyond description. If any entity could have stopped, prevented, or otherwise minimized the horrors that occurred in Uvalde, we are prepared to mount a strong case on behalf of victims seeking justice and accountability.

After being mentored in elite law firms and practicing alongside some of the best trial lawyers in the country, Stephanie says she is excited to join a firm that does high-impact, life changing work. "As someone who naturally gravitates toward cases involving the most vulnerable members of society, I am grateful to join an elite group of trailblazers that is so deeply committed to taking on tough cases and fighting for the underdog," she says.

"We have followed Stephanie's stellar career for a while now and can honestly say she is exactly the kind of lawyer that our clients deserve; someone who is committed to not only vindicating their legal rights but also helping them cope with circumstances that brought them to us in the first place," says Baum Hedlund Vice President, R. Brent Wisner. "We are thrilled to have her join our team."

Stephanie's background in psychology and law gives her the unique ability to understand what her clients are going through while thoughtfully guiding them through the legal process. She is especially drawn to cases involving social and environmental justice matters.

In over two decades as a practicing attorney, Stephanie has earned a formidable track record that includes several multi-million-dollar resolutions for her clients:

Her record of success includes numerous high-value toxic tort cases involving exposure to PCBs, benzene, and other harmful chemicals.:

- Monsanto PCB Litigation – Stephanie was a member of the trial team for hundreds of clients with non-Hodgkin's lymphoma in the Monsanto polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB) litigation. The trial team earned a verdict of $46.5 million. A subsequent settlement of all claims was in the hundreds of millions.

- Rowan v. Georgia Pacific et al – Stephanie served as lead counsel for the first wood dust product liability exposure case filed in the country. The case culminated in a confidential multimillion-dollar settlement.

- Thomas Gonzales v. ASARCO – A case filed on behalf of a general labor contractor diagnosed with mesothelioma in his 60s and who died shortly thereafter. The case was resolved in a confidential settlement.

- Egelhoff v. Fujifilm et al. – A case filed on behalf of a printing press worker that alleged exposure to benzene, which resulted in a confidential settlement.

In addition to her work on toxic torts and chemical exposure cases, Stephanie has extensive experience litigating cases against major drug manufacturers for causing harm to patients, which resulted in resolutions against Johnson & Johnson, Gilead, and others.

Throughout her career, Stephanie has earned numerous awards and accolades, including being selected as one of Texas Monthly Magazine's Texas Rising Stars. She has also been named to the National Trial Lawyers Top 100 list for four years running. A compassionate leader, strategist, organizer, optimist, and innovator, Stephanie thrives on problem-solving and an “all in” team mentality for success. She represents the alignment of empathy, wisdom, sophisticated legal knowledge, and advocacy.
