OAKLAND, CA, UNITED STATES, March 20, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Not only is a functioning plumbing system essential for the building's construction, but it is also needed for living a healthy and active life.

Unexpectedly, plumbing is still one of the most overlooked components of any building, whether it be residential or commercial. A competent plumbing system delivers clean water and maintains a smooth flow of water throughout the building.

One of the bigger plumbing problems Oakland is expected to face soon is the rising sea level which is only 9 miles away from the city. The seahorse water has an overwhelming amount of toxins from industrial runoff and sewage water. Oakland has a very old plumbing system; due to the extreme weather, the plumbing systems are more likely to get damaged. In such cases, the toxic sewage water will most likely seep into the city's plumbing system, seriously harming lives.

Drainage, pipes, fittings, and faucets are all part of the plumbing system, and sometimes a problem in one part
