Wilson gives "Surprising Answer to Life's Big Questions" in new book from Jim Britt, endorsed by Tony Robbins

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, September 7, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In time for National Buy A Book Day, Markiesha E. Wilson, change management expert, best-selling author and Founder of Wilson Chapman Consulting, announces her collaboration on Jim Britt's "Cracking the Rich Code: Vol. 13," endorsed by Tony Robbins with a foreword by Brian Tracy. The new book reveals strategies for life and entrepreneurial success.

Markiesha's chapter entitled, "Give More. The Surprising Answer to Life's Big Questions," confronts pressing questions about life, purpose, and even identity, through the lens of a credentialed guide to the largest brands in the nation— but with a human-centric twist. To her writing, Wilson adds the candor experienced by audience when she speaks on panels, raw honesty shared when recounting her painful childhood at women's retreats, wisdom gained from resilience, anchored by tools gained from life, the classroom and the boardroom.

In Cracking the Rich Code: Vol. 13, Markiesha shares; "So, what do we do when we are living with unanswered questions and undeserved stress? When darkness is fighting to overtake the light, and it looks like darkness is winning? For me, that's when your purpose power becomes evident." Refreshingly, more perspective and answers follow.

"Success is predictable if you know what determines it," said Tony Robbins. "This book offers
