innovation platform powering technology and growth in the talent acquisition space, today announced the appointment of Jonathan Zila as President.

Jonathan most recently served as Executive Vice President of Revenue at Recruitics, where he led growth initiatives across multiple business lines, bringing a data-centric approach to innovation in talent acquisition, and scaling the company's presence with leading employers.

Throughout his career, Jonathan has built high-performing teams, driven strategic expansion, and partnered closely with HR and Talent Acquisition leaders to deliver measurable hiring outcomes.

Katie Fortunato, who has served as President and co-founder since Talivty's inception, will transition to a new role as Executive Vice President, Platform & Innovation, at Talivty's parent company, Hire Innovations. In this capacity, she will oversee platform growth, partner development, and innovation strategy across the broader organization.

“These leadership changes reflect the strength of Talivty's foundation and the scale of opportunity ahead,” said Katie Fortunato. “Jonathan's operational expertise, market insight, and customer focus make him the ideal leader to guide Talivty's next chapter.”

“Talivty is uniquely positioned at the center of innovation in talent acquisition,” said Jonathan Zila, President of Talivty. “I'm honored to step into this role and excited to build on the incredible momentum Katie and the team have created.”
