What to Expect at Infosecurity Europe?

DataPatrol is shaping the Future of Screen-level Security and insider threat management. At Infosecurity Europe, the company will showcase how organizations can extend visibility and control to the very surface where data is most vulnerable: the screen. Whether on desktops in the office, mobile devices in the field, or internal portals accessed remotely, DataPatrol's technology delivers consistent, screen-level control across all environments. By embedding real-time, user-specific identifiers directly into the display, the watermarking solutions make every session traceable and accountable, without disrupting the user experience.
