

CodaPet launches compassionate in-home pet euthanasia services in the Mid-Willamette Valley, OR

The veterinarian-owned startup empowers a network of veterinarians who provide in-home euthanasia to ease the passing of pets at home, surrounded by loved ones.

SALEM, OR, UNITED STATES, June 9, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- CodaPet proudly announces its launch in the Mid-Willamette Valley, OR. The company provides peaceful in-home pet euthanasia through a network of compassionate and licensed veterinarians who offer end-of-life care for pets at home. In-home pet euthanasia is the best experience for dogs and cats and their families because their home is where they feel most familiar and comfortable. Dr. Sarah Crozier will be servicing the Mid-Willamette Valley.

I cherish the opportunities I have to bring this service to people in my community, and I am so excited about partnering with CodaPet to achieve this.”

“As an in-home euthanasia veterinarian, I repeatedly hear the heartfelt gratitude and the relief a family feels when they have been able to grant their pet this gift,” says Dr. Bethany Hsia, a co-founder of CodaPet. “It is my wish that every family in the Mid-Willamette Valley become aware of at-home pet euthanasia so they may provide a peaceful and compassionate end-of-life experience for their beloved pets when their time comes.”

Dr. Bethany Hsia, Dr. Karen Whala, and Dr. Gary Hsia are co-founders and veterinarians of CodaPet. They share a passion for increasing both customer access and awareness by empowering a network of veterinarians who provide compassion and professional care to more pets and their families in a familiar environment.

“The final moments with a beloved pet are the most personal and vulnerable ones most of us experience. In-home euthanasia offers a level of privacy, comfort, and security for both the pet parent and the fur baby that cannot be replicated in a vet office. I cherish the opportunities I have to bring this service to people in my community, and I am so excited about partnering with CodaPet to achieve this," says Dr. Sarah Crozier. Dr. Crozier has always known that veterinary medicine was her calling. Originally from Georgia, she earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Georgia in 2010 and her DVM from Auburn University College of Veterinary Medicine in 2014. What began as a childhood dream to help animals evolved into a lifelong mission to support both pets and the people who love them.

In 2016, Dr. Crozier and her wife moved to Oregon's Willamette Valley for what was supposed to be a one-year internship, but they quickly fell in love with the beauty and community of the region and made it their permanent home. After several years in traditional veterinary practice, Dr. Crozier felt something was missing. In 2019, she founded an in-home euthanasia service to offer a more personal, compassionate, and peaceful end-of-life experience for pets and their families.

To Dr. Crozier, euthanasia is not just a medical act, it's an emotional and deeply human one. She views it as the final, selfless gift we give to the animals who've given us so much unconditional love. Having faced the same heartbreaking decisions with her own beloved pets, Dr. Crozier approaches each family with empathy, gentleness, and zero judgment. Her goal is to be a true partner in helping families navigate this difficult journey with care, understanding, and dignity.

Dr. Crozier serves Corvallis, Philomath, Blodgett, Albany, Monroe, Alsea, Jefferson, Junction City, Salem, Logsden, Toledo, Seal Rock, Lebanon, Eugene, Waldport, South Beach, and the surrounding areas.

Benefits of In-home Pet Euthanasia include:

1. Compassion: In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more compassionate approach to end-of-life care. Pets can be surrounded by their loved ones, receive individual attention and care, and pass away peacefully in a familiar environment.

2. Comfort: One of the most significant benefits of in-home pet euthanasia is the comfort it provides to both the pet and their owners. The familiar surroundings of home can help reduce anxiety and stress for pets, making the process more peaceful. Additionally, being surrounded by loved ones can provide a sense of comfort and support during a difficult time.

3. Closure: Being able to say goodbye in a meaningful way can be an essential part of the grieving process. In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more intimate farewell, which can provide closure and help with the healing process.

4. Control: In-home pet euthanasia also allows pet owners to have more control over the process. They can choose the time and place of the euthanasia, as well as who will be present. This can help alleviate feelings of powerlessness and allow for a more personalized experience. In addition, in-home euthanasia allows owners to personalize the experience, including choosing the location, music, lighting, and other factors that can make the experience more meaningful.

How In-home Pet Euthanasia Works

Through CodaPet, pet parents can easily book in-home pet euthanasia performed by a compassionate and licensed veterinarian. Prior to the appointment, the veterinarian contacts the family to address any questions or concerns they might have. At the appointment, the veterinarian assists the family by going over the diagnosis and applying a quality-of-life assessment to objectively assess the pet's health and ensure there is no uncertainty about the need for euthanasia.

The visit takes, on average, 45 minutes. Pet parents have a window of time to be with their pets privately before and after the euthanasia procedure. The veterinarian only starts the euthanasia process when everyone is ready. This helps bring closure to all family members involved in the end-of-life care of a pet. For those who need support with aftercare, the veterinarian can assist with transportation and cremation services.

In-home Pet Euthanasia Costs

The starting price of in-home euthanasia starts at $300 in the Mid-Willamette Valley. The aftercare and cremation price begins at $93 and varies depending on factors such as the driving distance, the pet's size, and the option for private or communal cremation.
