Employers invest nearly 30% of total compensation in employee benefits, yet a staggering 85% of employees remain confused about their coverage options. This disconnect underscores a critical need for more effective benefits communication. SwellSpace addresses this challenge by offering a public-facing platform specifically designed for HR and benefits teams. By centralizing all HR and benefits information in one easily accessible site, SwellSpace empowers employees, dependents, and candidates to make informed decisions without the barriers of complex portals or login requirements. This streamlined approach not only enhances benefits utilization but also allows employers to showcase their total compensation offerings with greater clarity and transparency.

This partnership provides isolved customers with an intuitive platform created specifically for HR and benefits professionals. With SwellSpace, HR teams no longer need to rely on IT or Marketing to manage content or communicate with their workforce. They can update and maintain their site independently, speaking to employees in their own language, on their own schedule, and on their own terms. SwellSpace was designed with HR in mind, making it simple to use and flexible enough to support evolving communication needs.

Employees, dependents, and candidates can access plan documents, key contacts, enrollment details, HR policies, request forms, and other resources anytime, from any device. No logins are required. Getting started with SwellSpace does not require complex integrations or IT support, making it easy for organizations to quickly launch a benefits communication hub that works for everyone.

"At SwellSpace, we believe HR teams deserve tools that are built specifically for their needs," said Jessica Brewer, CEO of SwellSpace. "We created SwellSpace to give HR full control over how they communicate with their teams. Partnering with isolved allows us to bring that simplicity, accessibility, and flexibility to more organizations. It also helps employees and their families better understand and use their benefits so they can live healthier, more secure lives."

SwellSpace customers include universities, health systems, startups, and multi-location employers. The platform supports a wide range of use cases, from open enrollment and onboarding to ongoing employee and dependent engagement. Built-in analytics give HR teams real-time insight into how their site is being used, helping them track engagement, measure impact, and continuously improve communication. SwellSpace also supports recruiting efforts by giving candidates direct access to benefits information, helping them understand total compensation and make more informed decisions.
