AMSTERDAM, NETHERLANDS, June 23, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- INHOPE, the leading global network fighting online Child Sexual Abuse Material (CSAM), is pleased to announce its eighth annual Summit, taking place October 14-15, 2025 in Washington D.C. Hosted by annual funding partner

Google, this year's event will address a critical and rapidly evolving threat: the growing intersection between CSAM and broader criminal networks.

These networks no longer operate in isolation. Increasingly, they collaborate, share tools, and learn from one another — expanding their reach and making intervention more difficult. To combat this evolving threat, cross-sector cooperation has never been more critical.

Connected Crime, Collective Action

Criminal networks today are sophisticated, well-connected, and highly adaptive. They use encrypted platforms, cryptocurrencies, and emerging technologies to hide their activities and profit from exploitation. Understanding these connections — and how they overlap with other forms of cybercrime — is key to building stronger, more effective responses.

This year's Summit will bring together experts from law enforcement, technology companies, NGOs, financial institutions, and government to:

- Explore how criminal networks are structured and where they intersect
- Understand the technologies and platforms being exploited
- Identify opportunities for cross-sector collaboration
- Develop actionable strategies for disrupting these networks

What Can You Expect at the INHOPE Summit?

Day 1 (Hybrid, October 14): Gain insight into the structure and operations of modern criminal networks through expert-led presentations and collaborative discussions. Together, we will map key connections and explore where and how interventions can be most effective.

The graphic features a dark teal background with white text. On the left, the words "Summit" and "2025" are prominently displayed. Below that, the text "October 14-15 | Washington D.C." is shown. On the right, there is a photograph of three people (two men and one woman) working together at a table with a laptop and papers. The word "INHOPE" is in the top right corner of the photo. Below the photo, the text "Connected Crime Collective Action" is written in a smaller font.

Day 2 (In-Person, October 15): Work alongside global experts to develop practical strategies for disruption — from leveraging new detection technologies to improving international cooperation and building coordinated response frameworks.

Why Participate?

No single organisation or sector can tackle this problem alone. The INHOPE Summit provides a unique opportunity to build relationships, exchange knowledge, and align efforts with stakeholders from around the world. You'll hear from industry leaders including Google, Resolver, Tether, Snap, Yubo, Thorn, and many more, while contributing to collective strategies for dismantling these criminal ecosystems.

Be Part of the Solution

In-person attendance is limited — secure your spot today! Whether you work in tech, law enforcement, financial services, policy, or child protection, your perspective is vital. The more voices we bring to the conversation, the more powerful our response will be.
