NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, June 23, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- VIEWPARK and Inspired Girl are excited to announce they have optioned Slacker: 1991, Teen Spirit Angst and the Generation it Created, the powerful and soul-stirring book by author and music historian Rob Janicke, for development as a documentary series. The project will be produced by both companies, with Krysanne Katsoolis, Jennifer Tuma- Young and Tara Fogarty-Graziano set to produce, alongside Janicke, who will also serve as host.

Published by Inspired Girl's imprint Inspired by You Books, Slacker dives deep into the rise of grunge music in the early 1990s—its cultural, psychological, and emotional resonance with an entire generation. Through personal memoir, musical history, powerful interviews, and poignant insight, Janicke, founder of Generation Riff, reveals how grunge gave a voice to the misunderstood, the angry, and the unseen. From the trauma of a childhood spent in therapy to the salvation found in a mixtape of gritty guitars and unfiltered truth, Slacker is more than a music chronicle—it is a generational heartbeat.

"Slacker is a moving, meaningful lens into why grunge mattered—not just musically, but emotionally and socially," says VIEWPARK CEO Krysanne Katsoolis. "Rob's voice is authentic and vulnerable, and we're honored to partner with him to bring this electrifying story to the screen."

"This story reflects the soul of a generation," says Jennifer Tuma-Young, CEO of Inspired Girl. "Rob brings not just the music, but the emotion, the psychology, and the hope that came with it. This is the kind of story that truly matters. It is important not just for GenXers, but also for the generations of today and the future."

"I wrote Slacker for the kids like me—those of us who felt invisible and found life in sound," says author Rob Janicke. "Grunge didn't just speak to us—it saved us. This film is a tribute to the
