This annual event brings together professionals across the technology, defense, and business sectors for a day of networking, competition, and community. All proceeds from the event will go towards the Tunnel to Towers Foundation, an organization that supports first responders, military service members, and their families by providing mortgage-free homes and other critical assistance.

"We're honored to have the support of such outstanding partners who share our commitment to giving back to those who have served," said Marcus Smiley, CEO and Founder of Epoch Concepts. "This tournament isn't just about golf, it's about impact, service, and bringing people together to do good."

Sponsorship packages and player opportunities are still available. Epoch Concepts invites community members, partners, and supporters to participate in this event. Please visit <https://epochconcepts.com/event/epoch-concepts-charity-golf-tournament/> for more information on how to get involved.
