Building strong local partnerships is the best way to expand high-quality training and certification options for future behavior analysis professionals in Egypt and beyond.”

Dr. Almutairi

Credentialing Board® (QABA Board) continues expanding its reach across the MENA region with a recent visit to Egypt aimed at strengthening local capacity for ABA education, training, and certification.

Led by Dr. Mohammad Almutairi, QABA Board Member, and Dr. Al Azzam, the delegation visited Cairo University, Misr University for Science & Technology, and Zagazig University. The focus of each meeting was to align local programs with international standards and provide students with access to certified ABA courses in Egypt, supervised fieldwork, and credentialing pathways.

At Cairo University’s Faculty of Specific Education, Dr. Almutairi met with Dean Prof. Dr. Eman Hareedy and Department Head Dr. Ayman Salem to explore how QABA’s three-tiered credential model—ABAT®, QASP-S®, and QBA®—could support local program development and expand access to ABA certification in Egypt.

At Misr University for Science & Technology, Prof. Dr. Sherif Shahin welcomed QABA representatives for discussions about partnership models that would help train more practitioners equipped to meet national and regional needs.

At Zagazig University, collaboration ideas were exchanged with Prof. Dr. Ehab El-Beblawy, Prof. Dr. Hossam Awad, and Dr. Du’aa Alkhatab. Mr. Ahmad Samir, a QABA Arab Team member, joined Dr. Almutairi in emphasizing the importance of international certification pathways and hands-on training for preparing graduates to provide ethical ABA services.

"This trip demonstrates what's possible when universities and QABA work together," said Dr. Almutairi. "Building strong local partnerships is the best way to expand high-quality training and certification options for future behavior analysis professionals in Egypt and beyond."

QABA credentials are already supporting professionals across Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Kuwait, Oman, and other regions. By offering live-proctored exams, multilingual options, and culturally relevant supervision, QABA ensures ABA professionals have access to certification aligned with international best practices.
