Kingston Wellness Retreat is proud to serve as a place of healing and renewal. Our mission is to provide evidence-based care in a setting that fosters safety, dignity, and holistic well-being.”

Jason Flaig, Regional Executive Director

The new treatment center features 40 residential beds in a retreat-style setting specifically designed to promote recovery and wellness. The facility's unique approach to mental health treatment incorporates both evidence-based therapeutic interventions and recreational amenities that support the overall well-being of residents.

"Kingston Wellness Retreat is proud to serve as a place of healing and renewal for our community. Our mission is to provide evidence-based care in a setting that fosters safety, dignity, and holistic well-being.," said Jason Flaig, Regional

Executive Director at Evoraa Healthcare. "Our new facility represents our commitment to providing comprehensive, compassionate care in an environment that truly supports healing and recovery."

Distinctive Features and Amenities

- On-site movie theater providing recreational therapy opportunities and community building activities

- Therapeutic sauna facilities supporting wellness and stress reduction as part of holistic treatment approaches
- Expansive 12-acre natural campus offering outdoor therapeutic spaces and recreational areas
- 40 comfortable residential beds in a homelike environment that promotes healing

The opening of this facility addresses the growing need for quality residential mental health services in Georgia. The center will serve individuals requiring intensive therapeutic support while providing the structure and safety of a residential environment.

"Every program we offer is designed to support individuals in their recovery journey and to promote long-term wellness," added Flaig. "We remain deeply committed to advancing high standards of care and ensuring every guest receives the support they need to thrive."
