veterinarians who offer end-of-life care for pets at home. In-home pet euthanasia is the best experience for dogs and cats and their families because their home is where they feel most familiar and comfortable. Dr. John Crawford, who has been serving families through CodaPet, recently relocated from Maryland to Kailua, HI, and now serves as the primary provider in the area, offering compassionate care to the surrounding communities.

Families in Kailua and the surrounding communities need greater access to in-home, end-of-life care for their beloved pets.”

“It is my wish that every family in Kailua becomes aware of at-home pet euthanasia so they may provide a peaceful and compassionate end-of-life experience for their beloved pets when their time comes,” says Dr. Bethany Hsia, a co-founder of CodaPet. “As an in-home euthanasia veterinarian, I repeatedly hear the heartfelt gratitude and the relief a family feels when they have been able to grant their pet this gift.”

Dr. Bethany Hsia, Dr. Gary Hsia, and Dr. Karen Whala are co-founders and veterinarians of CodaPet. They share a passion for increasing both customer access and awareness by empowering a network of veterinarians who provide compassion and professional care to more pets and their families in a familiar environment.

care for their beloved pets. CodaPet, in conjunction with independent veterinarians like me, offers a local network to better support our two and four-legged community members, in the dignity and privacy of their own homes and on their own terms,” says Dr John Crawford.

Dr. Crawford brings both a deep respect for service and a heartfelt dedication to compassionate veterinary care. After earning his undergraduate degree from the University of Georgia and his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from North Carolina State University, Dr. Crawford has continued to serve as a member of the military and was recently assigned to Honolulu. Alongside his military career, he has remained a steadfast partner of CodaPet, choosing to continue his calling of supporting families and their beloved pets through end-of-life care.

Dr. Crawford is guided by a belief that companion animals already know how to live a good life—and though their time with us may be shorter, the love they share leaves a lifelong impact. “When this moment arrives for your loved one, I’m here to be of service and help your family during one of its greatest times of need. I’m honored to bring comfort and peace during that transition,” he shares. With this perspective, Dr. Crawford provides families in Honolulu and beyond with compassionate, meaningful support when it is needed most.

Dr. Crawford now serves Kailua, Kaneohe, Waimanalo Beach, Kokokahi, and the surrounding communities.

How In-home Pet Euthanasia Works

Through CodaPet's website, pet parents can easily book in-home pet euthanasia performed by a licensed vet.

Before the appointment, the vet contacts the family to address any questions or concerns they might have.

The vet assists the family by going over the diagnosis and applying a quality-of-life assessment to objectively assess the pet's health and ensure there is no uncertainty about the need for euthanasia.

For those who need support with aftercare, CodaPet can also assist with transportation and cremation services.

The visit takes, on average, one hour. Pet parents have a window of time to be with their pets privately before and after the euthanasia procedure, which lasts about 15 minutes. The vet only starts the euthanasia process when everyone is ready. This helps bring closure to all family members involved in the end-of-life care of a pet.

Benefits of In-home Pet Euthanasia include:

1. Compassion: In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more compassionate approach to end-of-life care. Pets can be surrounded by their loved ones, receive individual attention and care, and pass away peacefully in a familiar environment.
2. Comfort: One major benefit of in-home pet euthanasia is the comfort it provides to both the pet and their owners. The familiar surroundings of home can help reduce anxiety and stress for pets, making the process more peaceful. In addition, being surrounded by loved ones can provide a sense of support and comfort during a very difficult time.
3. Control: In-home pet euthanasia also allows pet owners to have more control over the experience. They can choose the time and place of the euthanasia, as well as who will be present. In addition, in-home euthanasia allows owners to personalize the experience, including choosing the location, music, lighting, and other factors that can make the experience more meaningful.
4. Closure: Being able to say goodbye in a meaningful way can be an essential part of the grieving process. In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more intimate farewell, which can provide closure and help with the healing process.

In-home Pet Euthanasia Costs

The starting price of in-home euthanasia starts at $300 in Kailua, HI. The aftercare and cremation price begins at $150 and varies depending on factors such as the driving distance, the pet's size, and the option for private or communal cremation.
