Compassionate Care that Feels Like Family

At Visiting Angels, care is more than assistance — it's about relationships. The caregivers, often referred to as “angels,” provide help with daily routines such as meal preparation, personal care, light housekeeping, and medication reminders. Still, they also bring kindness and connection that brighten each client's day.

“Every senior has their own story, their own way of life, and their own pace,” says owner Tricia Wingerter. “Our caregivers take the time to listen, to share a laugh, and to build trust. It's this genuine companionship that makes such a meaningful difference in someone's life.”

Families throughout Bethlehem and surrounding areas have come to rely on Visiting Angels for their warm, dependable approach to home care. Each care plan is thoughtfully developed to match the client's unique needs and preferences, allowing them to continue enjoying life on their terms. From respite care for family caregivers to full-time support for seniors who need daily assistance, Visiting Angels brings peace of mind and consistency to every home they serve.

Empowering Independence Through the “Share An Angel” Program

Visiting Angels also offers a unique opportunity for seniors through their Share An Angel program. This innovative service gives older adults the flexibility to receive compassionate care without unnecessary cost or commitment.

The program allows families to choose exactly how much help is needed — even if it's just for an hour or two. By offering care that fits each individual's schedule and needs, Share An Angel promotes both freedom and affordability. Seniors get the right amount of support when they need it most, while loved ones gain reassurance knowing their family member is in caring, capable hands.

“The Share an Angel program gives families breathing room,” explains Wingerter. “It helps seniors stay independent, and it gives families peace of mind knowing they can access compassionate care without overextending their budget. It's all about flexibility and respect for personal choice.”

Bringing Comfort, Confidence, and Care to Bethlehem's Seniors

Visiting Angels takes great pride in being a trusted part of the community. Their caregivers aren't just providing services — they're forming bonds that bring emotional comfort, companionship, and joy into the lives of seniors every day. The agency's commitment to uplifting both the spirit and the body has made it a beacon of support for many families seeking compassionate, reliable care close to home. This dedication to excellence has earned Visiting Angels the Best of Home Care® Provider of Choice award.

For those who want to help a loved one maintain independence, find companionship, or simply make daily life easier, Visiting Angels offers the helping hand and warm heart that make all the difference.
