

SecurityReview.AI Named Finalist for 'Innovation of the Year' at SANS Difference Maker Awards

Recognized for advancing practical, AI-driven threat modeling and secure design for engineering teams

SAN JOSE, CA, UNITED STATES, October 27, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SecurityReview.AI, the AI-powered platform for secure design and threat modeling, today announced it has been selected as a finalist for “Innovation of the Year (Open-Source or Product Tool)” at the prestigious SANS Difference Maker Awards.

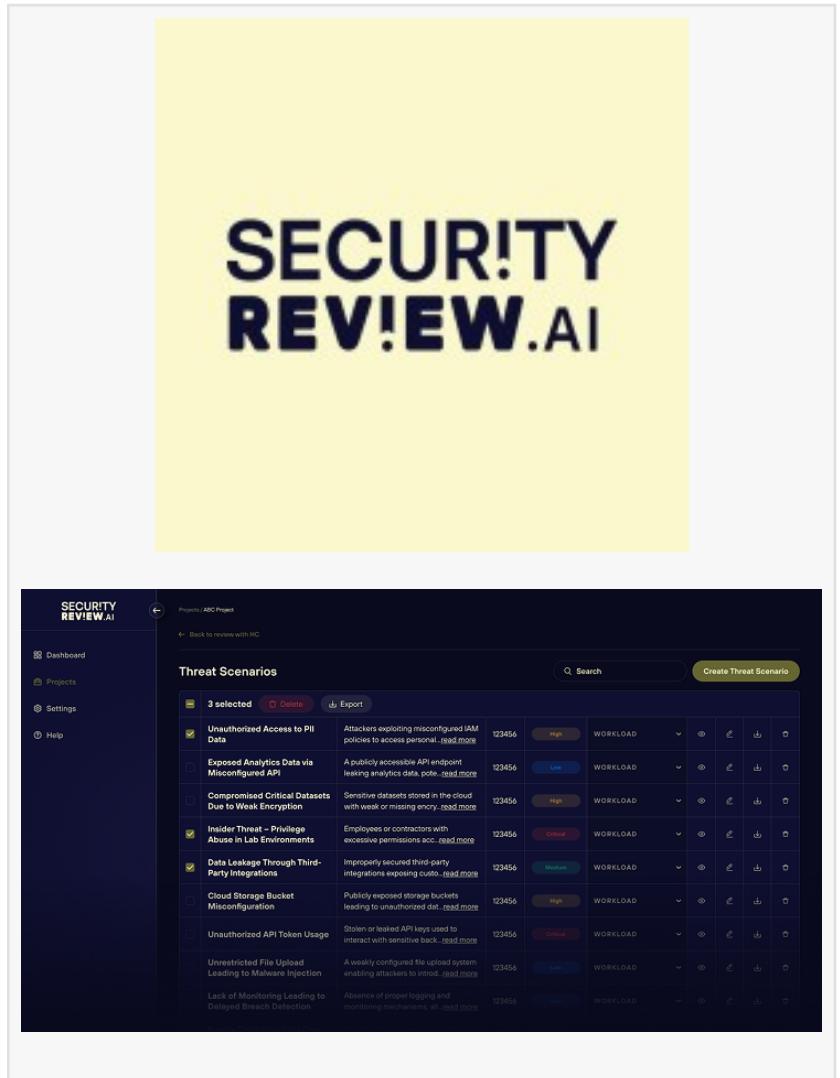

Winners will be revealed at the awards ceremony on December 14, 2025 during SANS’s annual Cyber Defense Initiative conference.

“Innovation is only meaningful when it helps security teams ship safer software faster,” said Abhay Bhargav, Co-Founder of SecurityReview.AI.

“Being recognized by SANS validates our mission to make threat modeling and secure design radically more practical for modern engineering teams.”

The SANS Difference Maker Awards honor individuals and solutions driving meaningful progress in cybersecurity, spotlighting innovations that materially strengthen defenses, reduce risk, and empower practitioners worldwide.

The Innovation of the Year (Open-Source or Product Tool) category celebrates breakthrough technologies that improve real-world security outcomes for both defenders and builders, marking a major milestone for platforms transforming the secure design process.

The SANS Difference Maker Awards highlight individuals and solutions that “raise the bar in enabling secure business operations and reducing risk.”

This recognition underscores SecurityReview.AI’s ongoing commitment to measurable, actionable improvements in software security.
