What Are The Factors Driving The Pet Boarding Services Market?

The rise in spending on non-medical veterinary services is anticipated to stimulate the expansion of the pet boarding services market. Such services include pet-related activities like grooming, boarding, training, and daycare that don't include medical procedures. This increasing expenditure can be attributed to the rise in pet ownership, an increase in disposable income, and an emphasis on pet wellness and comfort. Pet boarding services offer a secure and comforting environment for pets while their owners are not available, ensuring their welfare and attention, without needing medical services. For instance, it is reported by the American Pet Products Association, a non-profit organization based in the USA, that in April 2024, spending on pet grooming, dog walking, and boarding surged to $12.6 billion in 2023, a significant increase from $11.4 billion in 2022. Consequently, the increasing expenditure on non-medical veterinary services is driving the growth of the pet boarding services market.
