SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, November 7, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- ISMAY (Avery Hellman) announces the release of Finding Lucinda: Music From the Documentary, the official soundtrack to the acclaimed film Finding Lucinda. The documentary follows ISMAY on a road trip across the American South, tracing the early creative spark of three-time GRAMMY Award-winning songwriter Lucinda Williams 6 years ago... These songs are from this journey and are an extension of it,"

ISMAY (Avery Hellman)

Rolling Stone calling it "an intimate meditation on the balance between art and existence." Stream the new soundtrack now on all digital platforms or purchase a physical copy today.

At the heart of the soundtrack is ISMAY's own artistic search. "I set off on a road trip to trace the roots of Americana music legend Lucinda Williams 6 years ago... These songs are from this journey and are an extension of it," ISMAY shares. The recordings capture the emotional texture of that journey, exploring moments of uncertainty, influence, and inspiration as ISMAY retraces Williams's formative years.

Many of the soundtrack's centerpiece recordings were captured live at Austin's iconic Cactus Café, produced by longtime Williams collaborator Charlie Sexton and featuring performances by Los Texmaniacs and Warren Hood. Additional tracks include collaborations with Buddy Miller, alongside readings of poetry by Lucinda's father, Miller Williams—whose writing and mentorship shaped her lyrical voice. The project was brought together with mixing by Don Fierro, mastering by Eric Broyhill, and engineering contributions from Chris Bell, Kaleb Munoz, Laurretta Molitor, and Rod Nino, reflecting a deeply collaborative spirit.
