Headed to Online Auction

In a historic online event set to captivate historians, filmmakers, and the UFO community, one of the world's most significant private collections of Unidentified Flying Object/UAP phenomena is heading to online auction. On Saturday, December 13, 2025, Direct Auctions will offer the personal archive of Emmy Award-winning producer Chris Wyatt, a trove so extensive it documents the golden age of UFO investigation.

I was at the top of my game as a Hollywood producer, but now, it's time for this collection to go to the next generation of paranormal TV producers, documentary filmmakers, and UFO enthusiasts.”

Chris Wyatt

A local photographed this UFO as it emerged from undersea and began moving towards the beach, 1993 Maslin Beach, Australia.

At the center of this unprecedented auction is an item many experts considered lost to history: the 1947 Roswell Army Air Force Base Yearbook. Known as the “Holy Grail of Ufology,” this ultra-rare artifact is believed to be the only copy in private hands, with the originals reportedly confiscated by the U.S. government following the legendary UFO crash.

Amassed between 1992 and 2004 during Wyatt's tenure as Hollywood's go-to producer for paranormal programming; it is a turn-key production library. The archive contains full broadcast rights to 39 hours of never-aired, broadcast-quality interviews with the field's most controversial and celebrated figures.

Industry experts estimate the depth of the archive, which includes hundreds of never-before seen photographs, over 500 declassified government documents, and hundreds of rare out-of-print periodicals, provides sufficient source material to produce five to six full-length television documentaries.

"I was at the top of my game as a Hollywood producer," says Chris Wyatt, former network producer for CBS. "But now, it's time for this collection to go to the next generation of paranormal TV producers, documentary filmmakers, and UFO enthusiasts." The collection features interviews and materials from the titans of Ufology including:

- Bob Lazar: Whistleblower who brought Area 51 claims to the world stage.
- Stanton Friedman: Nuclear physicist known as the "Father of Roswell."
- Gordon Cooper: One of the original Mercury Seven astronauts who broke silence on extraterrestrial encounters.
- Linda Moulton Howe: Emmy-winning investigative journalist focused on animal mutilations.
- Budd Hopkins: The pioneer of the alien abduction and regression therapy.
