

Global People Strategist Honored for Excellence in Human Resources Technology by Global Tech Awards

SaaS platform recognized for revolutionizing international HR compliance management across 150+ countries

BOSTON, MA, UNITED STATES,
December 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/
-- Global People Strategist (GPS), a leading provider of global HR

compliance intelligence solutions, has been honored for excellence in Human Resources Technology (HRTech) by the Global Tech Awards, a prestigious international program recognizing exceptional technology solutions driving innovation and progress worldwide.

The award recognizes GPS's unified technology platform that delivers real-time compliance intelligence and comprehensive resources to multinational companies operating across more than 150 countries. The platform addresses critical challenges faced by expanding organizations, including fragmented legal services, language barriers, and the complexity of navigating ever-changing labor laws across multiple jurisdictions.

"This recognition validates our mission to transform global HR compliance from a high-risk obstacle into a strategic advantage," said Daniel Mendieta, CEO of Global People Strategist. "We've engineered a solution that eliminates the compliance gaps that can cost companies millions, while enabling organizations of any size to compete internationally with confidence."

GPS's technology platform features advanced monitoring capabilities that track labor law changes across all client-subscribed countries, delivering instant updates through personalized dashboards. The system provides comprehensive, categorized information covering the entire employment lifecycle—from statutory requirements to competitive optional benefits—as regulations change.

The platform's document library enables companies to adapt compliant employee handbooks and employment contracts tailored to each country's specific legal requirements and cultural expectations in minutes rather than weeks. Additionally, GPS maintains an extensive curated database of vetted local experts—lawyers, accountants, and HR specialists—across its coverage area.

The Global Tech Awards evaluates nominees through a rigorous judging process emphasizing innovation, creativity, and excellence. Winners are selected based on their ability to create and deliver innovative technologies that shape the future of their industries.
