“Cruisers want something simple: a reliable way to stay connected without overpaying or struggling with complicated setup,” said Sam King, CEO of GigSky. “This expansion gives travelers a personal, consistent connection they can rely on across more ships and more regions than ever before.”

Designed as a personal alternative to shared cruise Wi-Fi, GigSky provides travelers with their own private data connection for messaging, email, maps, and social media.

A key benefit for travelers is the ability to stay connected seamlessly on the ship and in port. With its exclusive Cruise + Land plans, GigSky lets travelers move seamlessly from ship to shore without switching services, making it a practical choice for modern cruise itineraries.

Previous coverage included major cruise lines such as Carnival, Celebrity, Disney, MSC, Norwegian, Princess, and Royal Caribbean, covering over 200 ships globally. GigSky offers both Cruise Only and Cruise + Land plans ranging from 512MB to 20GB, valid for 1 to 120 days, with pricing starting at $18.99.

Regional cruise plans span Europe, the Americas & Caribbean, Asia Pacific, and the Middle East, while the GigSky World Plan extends coverage to 128 countries worldwide.

Travelers install the GigSky eSIM once and can reuse it for future trips, only a new data plan is needed each time. Full cruise coverage details are available at
